

Web design task 4

Strengths

My redesign is much more accessible and user friendly since there is little text and lots of images for users to view, the website is fully functional and is easier to navigate through and allows the user to quickly find what they are looking for, i am happy with the way the redesign turned out since i find that my redesign is simple but effective to the website and for the users allowing them to easily use the website and navigate through it without getting confused or lost throughout the website and finding information.

Weaknesses

One of my weaknesses making the website was aligning the images and text, It was giving me trouble to put it in place, I also struggled with the footer as it was not going at the bottom of the page and to align the items but after all I managed and it came out very well.

Overview

what would you improve from the MCAST website?

5 responses

User friendly

I would improve the design, especially when changing window size

Accessibility

I would improve the navigation as it was hard to find a lot of information

From what the user results show, they would change the accessibility so I tried to make it that the website was easier to access and use, I wanted it to be as user friendly as possible as one of the results were that they would change the “User friendly” as the official site is not user friendly at all.

I tried not to clutter everything and made it as neat as possible for easier navigation because quoting one of the responses was “I would Improve the navigation as it was hard to find a lot of information” and for students or new students it would be difficult for them to navigate through the website, I wanted to achieve this not only for myself but for other students. I think it is important to always take into consideration the users that will have to use the website to find important information.
